DART'S ALL, FOLKS!

On "The MAD Dartboard" on the back of issue #293 you put Stephen King's name. Why? Are you mad because he monopolizes the bestseller lists? He writes to make himself happy. If he makes millions doing it, so what! I'd like to see anyone at MAD write over 20 bestsellers. If he isn't good at writing, how come there are over eighty million King books in print? Of the 16 King books I've read, all of them were great!

Ryan Swank
N. Canton, OH

We apologize for the mistake on our dart board. The area in question was not supposed to read "Stephen King." It should have read "Stephen King FANS"!!!! —Ed.

PARDON OUR FRENCH

Referring to your "Handy Foreign Phrase Guide" (MAD #293), you neglected to translate the word "skateboard" into French. "Skateboard" in French is actually "planche de roulette."

Geoffrey Hart
Monsey, NY

Geoffrey—since you seem to be such a linguistic whiz, here's another phrase we're not going to translate into French: You're a picky, picky schmuck! —Ed. o uard

OUT OF TOON

Two years ago I had cosmetic surgery and now I look just like Mickey Mouse. I'm glad I was able to pick up a pair of Mickey Mouse four-fingered gloves from "The Great Toon Surplus Sale" in MAD #292 (see picture)!

Andy Helmick
Columbus, OH

We THANK GOD you bought the Mickey Mouse gloves and not the Donald Duck sailor suit! Otherwise you wouldn't be wearing pants in your photo! Yecchi! —Ed.

MANUEL BELABORED

Now that General Manuel Noriega is a prisoner of the U.S., how does that affect the value of his "MAD's All-Star Flopps" trading card from the back cover of issue #282?

Danny & Tracey Murray
Staten Island, NY

From what we understand, the $569.00 value of the card has not been effected. However a more savvy question would be: How will the Noriega card's value be affected if, as predicted by State Dept. expert Elliot Abrams, Darryl Strawberry is elected the next President of Panama? —Ed.

A "PI" IN THE OINTMENT

MAD is probably the last place anyone would look for the value of pi. However anyone who does look there should be warned that the value published on page three of MAD #293 is wrong! The decimal expansion of pi starts out with 3.14159265358979... Your value is wrong in the 10th decimal place. I didn't check any further, since once you have a wrong digit, everything after that is irrelevant.

Saul Rosen
Professor of Computer Science
Purdue University
West Lafayette, IN

The value of pi quoted in your March issue is incorrect. The numeral "5" should have been between the 10th and 11th digits. Give yourselves a "pi" in the face!

Dr. Robert A. Erck
Assistant Metallurgist
Materials & Components
Technology Division
Associate Editor
Lubrication Engineering
Argonne National Laboratory
Argonne, IL

We are honored to hear from such learned and respected members of the intellectual community regarding our alleged pi faux pas! It's a welcome change of pace from their usual letters asking why the Black Spy wins more than the White Spy (although we've still got some serious doubts about that guy from Lubrication Engineering)! —Ed.

THE BEST, AGAIN

Special note: Many people submitted "Best of the Year" lists to us this year, so here is the complex formula we used to choose the one to print: First, we threw away all the ones we didn't agree with. Unfortunately, that left us with none! So, we had to fish them out of the garbage and decided to go with the only one that wasn't covered with clear blue liquid gel stains! Anyway, get ready as...

I now present MY personal "Best of the Year Awards" for 1989:

Best Movie Satire: Battyman (#289)
Best TV Satire: The Blunder Years (#291)
Best Article: MAD's Modern Rube

"DUCK EDWING CHILLS OUT UP NORTH"

In "Duck Edwing Chills Out Up North" (MAD #292), the Duck-man shows penguins at the North Pole. Any preschooler knows penguins live only at the South Pole!

Nate Marron
Euclid, OH

You're absolutely right! Fortunately for us, however, most of our readers never graduated from preschool! —Ed.

WHAT'S WRONG WITH THIS PERSON?

A proud Kyle Hildreth of Southwick, MA, displays the crude sculptures he made using Lego blocks. Great, Kyle, just great! All of us at MAD wish you the best of luck in your next task: learning to eat with a fork!

BLEAK

ARTIST: MORT DRUCKER

FOR THE FUTURE PART II

WRITER: STAN HART

My agent said in this movie I'd play two parts and they'd be great for my career! Right! I play a 45-year-old drunk and a 65-year-old grandmother!

I understand that in the future everyone will be intelligent and have good taste! We won't tolerate the garbage we found entertaining in 1990!

That's too bad! I'm going to miss MAD Magazine!

1983 2001
3010 2089
1985

What's so confusing? Mutty and Dork go into the future, Bam! Then they go past the future, Wham! into the past and then past the past into the present, Boom! that's supposed to be 1985, which is really five years ago! Got that?!!

DRUCKER

Where are we going, Dork?

Into the future! To 2015!

Are you kidding? Nuts!

What's the matter?

We're going to have some wait for our luggage to catch up!

Hey, Dork! Jennifur is asleep!

It's not safe for her to know too much about the future, so I put her out!

How'd you do that?

I gave her one of my talks about the complexities of time travel! Works better than Sominex!

Hey, Dork, where did these monstrous skateboards come from?

They were invented by a city bicycle messenger who was looking for a better way to harass pedestrians!

Wow! This book has all the results of sporting events to come! It says that Jose Canseco now charges $500 per autograph and Pete Rose still claims he never bet on baseball!

With that book, I can bet on sporting events and make a bundle because I'll already know who won!

I can't let you keep that book, Mutt! If you know the future, you will affect the present! I have too great a social conscience to allow you to do that!

Really? Then how come you never once tried to find out when future earthquakes or famines or droughts will occur so you could go back and warn people! Tell me THAT, "Mr. Social Conscience"!

Well, Mutt, mission accomplished. You saved your son!

Sure, but look at me in 2015! I'm a complete failure! Why don't I do something about that?

I haven't an answer for that one, Mutt. But then, neither did the writers of this picture! On to our next adventure!

Who's that, Dork?

Those are the kids from "E.T." on their way to make their own sequel!

Help! Help!

Shh! What are you doing in my room?!

Your room? This has been my room since we moved in six years ago!

Okay! Here's what happened. When Dork and Mutt left the future, Smacko!, they returned to 1985. But hold on! 1985 had, Zap!, been changed because of something that happens in the future that changes things in the past! So Pow!, the present is a different present than it presently is! It's easy, once you get the hang of it!

Get out of here and take your fat friend with you!

How could this be happening?
I've stumbled into a rerun of "It's a Wonderful Life"!

I'm the richest man in Hell Valley!

It figures a sleazy guy like you owns this gambling casino and glitzy hotel!

If you got a complaint, take it up with the other members of our Casino and Hotel Owners Association ...

Donald Trump
and Merv Griffin!

Mom!

Mutty, how about congratulating me!
I just graduated from the Tammy Bakker School of Applied Make-up!

I want to know what's been happening around here!

Okay now: When you were in the future, you left the sports almanac and, Socko!, Stiff glommed on to it!
Then he swiped the time car, Zip!, and headed for 1955! Anyhow, in the past he met himself and, Kerchunk!, gave himself the book! Then the 1958 Stiff started betting on sports and, Zowie!, won every race, game and contest until he became a multimillionaire! Oh, by the way, your father's dead!

It's so terrible.
My Mom said they buried him in 1973!

Gee,
I hope he didn't suffer.

course he suffered!
The poor guy didn't die until 1975!

I'll just pick.

There go Dork and Mutty. They have to go back to 1955 so that they can, Bam!, stop Stiff from ... no, they have to go ahead to ... no, wait! Here's how they do it.
They go back to ... Just give me a minute to figure this out ... Let's see, they go sideways ... No, that's not it ...

You must get that sports almanac back!
Follow Stiff and
phone me on this.
And if the line is busy, keep trying!

Why should your line be busy?

I got a lot of Phone Sex calls to make! They banned them in 1990!

WRITER: FRANK JACOBS

RECALL WAITING DEPT.

Spend two minutes with your grandparents and you realize their favorite phrase is "When I Was Your Age..." They can drive you nuts with their recollections! But here's the problem: EVERY generation likes to talk about when they were young! And in just a scant 40-50 years, today's youngsters will be the babblers—boring kids with their reminiscing! What will their stories be like? Here's...

"WHEN I WAS YOUR AGE..." TODAY'S KIDS WILL

When I Was Your Age...oxygen masks were things only sick people wore!!

When I Was Your Age...we thought nothing of walking from one end of the mall to the other!

When I Was Your Age...I spent only $1,000 on Prom Night—and had just as good a time as the kids who spent the big bucks!

AS YOUR AGE... STORIES I BE TELLING THEIR GRANDCHILDREN

When I Was Your Age...folks only needed three deadbolts to lock their doors!

When I Was Your Age...they only had ten movie screens in one theatre!

When I Was Your Age...only 1/2 the teams in the NBA made it to the playoffs!

When I Was Your Age...it was the Mexicans who snuck into America to get the decent-paying jobs!

When I Was Your Age...we had a thing called "the ozone layer" to protect us from the sun!

When I Was Your Age...Debbie Gibson and Fred Savage hadn't even gotten into politics yet!

When I Was Your Age...we had Tone Loc, DJ Jazzy Jeff and the Beastie Boys—now there were some great songwriters!

When I Was Your Age...our family was so poor, we could only afford to put a phone in one of our cars!

When I Was Your Age...Mom always made us home-cooked meals—no matter how many minutes she had to sweat over the microwave!!!

LET THE MAIMS BEGIN DEPT.

Ever notice how most sports articles are written about the great triumphs and not the great disasters? No? Well, that's too bad! We're not going to omit these three pages just because you don't know what we're talking about! No way! We'd rather delight our truly observant readers with these truly tasteless accounts of...

SPORTS DI

The Galveston Track and Field Meet Disaster

June 14, 1981—Leading by two laps, hurdler Hans Flurney lost any chance for a medal when he and an errant javelin arrived at a hurdle at exactly the same time. (Artie Charney, the errant javelin thrower, however, did take the first place medal in his event due to the record-breaking distance of his off-target toss.)

The Twin City Body Knot Basketball Disaster

January 12, 1988—When the Twin City's two tallest teams, the St. Paul Sonnets and the Minneapolis Mikans faced off, it took five doctors brandishing chainsaws to surgically separate the entanglement of twisted limbs.

SASTERS OF THE 1980's

ARTIST: JACK DAVIS

WRITER: DUCK EDWING

The Durham State Bowling Disaster

March 18, 1987—Grasping her bowling ball with beer-sticky fingers caused Diane Doopo to blow an eight pin advantage going into the 10th frame. Her little mishap cost her team the league trophy.

The Arkansas Hockey Disaster

December 13, 1989—The entire Kentucky Bladerunner team was wiped out when an irate Arkansas Ice Slug fan named Jason leaped onto the arena ice and proceeded to ax them to death. Not surprisingly, there was no interference from any of the referees who thought it to be "just another fight." Jason was given 12 minutes in the penalty box for his poor conduct.

The Beirut Open Tennis Disaster

July 30, 1982—An American player disputed the umpire's line call in the semi-final men's singles event.

The Bayonne Indoor Diving Meet Disaster

January 5, 1983—The entire Secaucus women's high-diving team disappeared during a practice session, thereby allowing Bayonne its first championship, albeit by default, in 67 years.

The San Diego Pole Vault Disaster

September 9, 1985—
Perfect form but bad aim impaled David Dasch's attempt at the national record for the event.

The Triple Giant Swing Dismount Disaster

April 22, 1984—Five points were deducted from Chris McGlin's final score when the high bar specialist failed to raise his arms in the prescribed manner following his dismount.

"You gotta be in it to win it," "All you need is a dollar and a dream," and on and on. Lotteries are big business these days and they run catchy slogans to get you to play. "For a buck, what the—heck!" Well, you've got nothing (much)

Some Truly Joy Could Do If You

End the embarrassment of trying to pass "10¢ OFF" coupons that you know have already expired.

Spend 40¢ a gallon more for what is laughingly called "Full Service" so that you won't have to walk around all day reeking of gasoline.

Wear your clothes once. Then throw them out and buy new ones, so you can avoid those weirdos you meet late at night at the laundromat.

Give every beggar you encounter a quarter to lessen the chances that he will suddenly snap and strangle you for rejecting him.

Put a whole hour's worth of money in the parking meter to escape the pressure of trying to finish all your Saturday errands in 12 minutes.

Replace those cheap ball-point pens in your kitchen drawer that refuse to work until you make a whole page of ovals just to get them started.

ious Things You Won The Lottery

ARTIST: PAUL COKER

WRITER: TOM KOCH

This year, stop waking up your poor mother at 2 a.m. to wish her Happy Birthday just because the long distance rates are lower then.

Hire a fix-it man to figure out where to put that drawerful of parts you have been saving because you assume they fell off something important.

Rejoice that you can now afford to buy 2 hot dogs, a large soda, and a pretzel at an N.F.L. game and still have enough money to buy a ticket.

Hire a cleaning lady. Then hire a translator to help you communicate with your cleaning lady in whatever language it is that she understands.

Avoid those long supermarket check-out lines by shopping exclusively at 7-Eleven, since now you can afford to pay their usual double-mark-up prices.

Stop wasting energy kicking vending machines that take your money and don't give anything back. (Hire a hefty teenager to kick them for you.)

Aren't you tired of the same old sitcoms on TV? They always deal with cutesy families or roommates or divorcées. It's about time the networks plugged into new ideas! And to get them started, MAD's developed these promos for

FUTURE BREAK

"STIFFS"—The Mortuary Sitcom

Welcome to Mike's Mortuary—a place you shouldn't be caught dead in!

Why are you so glum, honey?

I was feeling great till I read about that nearby Amtrak derailment! Two hundred people were carried out of the wreckage!

Goodness! That's terrible!

Especially for us! They all survived!

It's the wacky world of caskets and embalming, where anything can happen...and usually does!

This isn't my husband!

Hey lady, you paid for the budget funeral! You get a stiff of our choice!

And best of all, it's all done in humorous good taste! So kick off with Martin Mull and Sally Struthers in "Stiffs"—Tuesdays on CBS!

"HOLD ON, WALDO!"—The Pit Bull Sitcom

Meet Waldo, the craziest, most persistent pit bull you'll ever try to run away from!

Why is Waldo chewing on the front door?

He's just hungry! Let him out! Mrs. Calazoni is in her garden!

You're right! Waldo loves Italian food!

He's a pooch with a purpose, whose lovable backyard antics will always surprise you!

Isn't that cute, Waldo's burying that big stick under the tree!

That's no stick, that's my grandma's femur!

So kiss "Lassie" goodbye and sink your teeth into Jack Klugman and Anne Meara in "Hold On, Waldo!"—Wednesdays this fall on NBC!

Biff, how are you handling that Born-Again teacher at school?

Well, I invoked the curse of Satan, cut the heart out of a lizard, set fire to a dead rooster and then torched her car!

That's not bad for starters, but tomorrow you've got to get serious!

It's a wacky household where the devilish madness never stops!

Breakfast's ready! Better call Grandpa!

Don't bother! We sacrificed him last night on the Altar of Evil!

But I already set his place for dinner!

If it'll make you happy, I'll take him out of the freezer!

Join Bob Uecker and Loretta Swit on "The Devil You Say!"—Fridays on NBC!

"FRITZ NEXT DOOR"—The Ex-Nazi Sitcom

Who's the guy who smells of sauerkraut and goose-steps to the store?

Who's the off-the-wall ex-Nazi with the accent you adore?

Who's been hiding out in Cleveland since the Germans lost the war?

Vy, dot's ME! I'm Fritz... Next... Door!

Fritz tries to cover up his ruthless Nazi past, but sometimes he really goofs!

Fritz, the TV has lost its sound! Can you fix it?

Vatch! Magnavox swine! Ve haf vays uf making you talk!

It's a nutty Nazi riot that's a blitzkrieg of laughs! Tom Bosley is "Fritz Next Door"—Mondays on CBS!

COMPILING IT ON DEPT.

If you've watched David Letterman, you've seen him spout off one of his many lists. What you may not know is that MAD did it first—back in issues 225 and 260. What you also may not know is that MAD lifted the list idea from the best-selling "Book of Lists." Why all this explaining? Merely to fill out this intro to...

MAD'S REALLY RELEVANT COLLECTION OF LISTS

What kind of lunatic cab driver are you? You killed this guy!

Yeah, but I brought in a pregnant lady who's about to give birth! So, it evens things out!

I need drugs! For the pain from the baby?

No, for the terror of the cab ride! Dear, your mother and I got here as fast as we could. What's the problem?

I'm pregnant! I'm an unwed mother! And I'm about to give birth!

I'm glad you're just pregnant! I thought you were putting on tons of weight! What a relief! At least you'll still be attractive to men!

I heard that the patient used frozen sperm!

Oh, come on now! Sure it was cold in the backseat of my car, but she's exaggerating!

How come with all the dress stores in this city, you pick this one?

You know darn well this one has the best changing rooms for making out!

Alburp, you rat! You not only cheat on your wife, but on your mistress, too?! Where are your principles?

Relax! I'm making it with her to help me forget you!

Well... at least that's some consolation!

Atomic Plant Site

This broad's a pushover! I'm going to lead a charmed life doing whatever I want and feeding her baloney!

Grandma Olympia's here!

Grandma feels a wet tushy!

Olympia again? Do they ever make a movie when she's not someone's mother?!

So change your underwear, lady! As an adult, I would think you'd have some control! I'm a baby! I have an excuse!

MIKE WHO?

BRUNO'S BACK

Don't let my grandfather eat all these candy bars at one time!

Don't worry! He won't! We just threw his false teeth away with the corn on the cob we gave him for lunch!

Gee, I like this old man! I've got another load in my pants, food in my hair, and I keep drooling! Just like him! I'm happy to see you get to do baby things again when you turn 80!

TESSIE SLEEPS WITH THE FISHES

You fly a plane like you drive your cab—like a lunatic! I shouldn't be flying! I should be home taking care of the baby! Oh my God! We forgot the baby back at the hangar!

Relax! I'm more responsible than that! The baby is out on the wing!

SAAVIK... NAH, COULDN'T BE! SHE DIDN'T HAVE THAT MUCH HAIR!

I hope someone opened a Frequent Flyer account for me so I'll at least get mileage for this scary, rotten flight!

FLAPS UP

Is that my baby? He's got my nose!

And he's got my eyes!

I just hope he doesn't have your morals, or he'll grow up to be an unfaithful, lying creep like you!

And he's got a snide, raspy voice! What's the big deal?! What he doesn't have is a father!!!

What's the big deal about fathers? If the quality of the men I've seen so far are the choices, I opt for "fatherless"! Actually, when I think about mom, maybe I should opt for "orphan"!

Tell me the truth!
Alburp's the real father, isn't he?

Who
told you?!

Wow, talk about a precocious child!

Quick! After
the baby!
He's walking out into traffic!

That's great!
It's an excuse for another car chase!

Why DO we keep ending up in traffic?

People were sick and tired of car chases
in adventure films,
so now the studios
put car chase scenes in comedies!

This is a comedy?!?
I'm only a baby and I know better!

Will you just shut
up and rescue Milky!
For once in your life,
take some responsibility!

I will! Who do you think was responsible for teaching him how to walk out into traffic? I'll tell you who—me!

You rescued Milky!
You were so brave cutting off all those drivers and cursing at them to move out of the way!

What's so brave
about cutting cars off and cursing?
Those are the typical charming traits of any cab driver!

It's happening! Mom's going to let Tames be my father! What a break! Someone who's my mental peer to live with!

Television remote controls have become more and more sophisticated in recent years. In fact, you can use your remote to change channels, record programs, switch the set on and off and silence annoying commercials. But we believe this new technology hasn't gone far enough. There's much more that can be done to make television viewing a truly entertaining and enjoyable experience. So, wheel out the old Barca-lounger, dust off the Naugahyde and enjoy...

WRITER: MARK DRESSLER

MONEY SAVER SWITCH:

Automatically jams the phone to stop you from wasting your money on merchandise offered by those lousy Shop at Home Shows.

COLOR COMMAND:

Lets you de-colorize classic black and white films that have been shamelessly colorized and ruined by Ted Turner.

MANUFACTURER'S PRICE INDEXER:

Displays the real market value of prizes given away on game shows, as opposed to the ridiculously inflated manufacturer's "suggested retail price."

DISCLAIMER ENLARGER:

Magnifies all the fine print in those tiny manufacturer's disclaimers so you'll know the actual limitations of their cheap merchandise and crummy service.

"LOVE CONNECTION" VOTING BUTTON:

Lets you play along with the audience so you too can screw the contestant by matching him or her with a real loser.

VIDEO LIP-SYNC MODULATOR:

Matches the lyrics with the mouths of singers in MTV music videos. Also synchronizes shabbily dubbed Japanese kung-fu and Godzilla movie voice-overs.

T&A SEARCHER:

Instantly locks in whatever station is showing the most big-chested babes and strapping hunks.
