Do you plod as you read?

Why Do You Read So Slowly?

A noted publisher in Chicago reports there is a simple technique of rapid reading which should enable you to increase your reading speed and remember more. Most people do not realize how fast, accurate reading can bring extra pleasure and success in everything they attempt to do.

According to this publisher, many people, regardless of their present reading skill, can use this method to improve their reading ability to a remarkable degree. Whether reading stories, books, or technical matter, it becomes possible to read long sentences at a glance . . . entire pages in seconds.

To acquaint the readers of this publication with the easy, selftraining method, the company has printed full details in a new booklet, "How to Read Faster and Retain More," mailed free to anyone who requests it. No obligation. Simply send your name, address, and zip code to: Reading, 835 Diversey Parkway, Dept. 647-010, Chicago, Illinois 60614. A postcard will do.

STOP THE PRESSES! HERE'S SOME SCOOPS AND SCUTTLEBUTT TO KNOCK YOU OUTTA YOUR TEEPEE!

ITEM! Merciful Marvel has seven swinging SPECIALS on sale right now — The far-out FANYASTIC FOUR, featuring a certain brain-blasting blessed event — The Amazing SPIDER-MAN, presenting the startling secret of Peter's mom and dad — The Incredible HULK, fighting in the land of the Inhumans — the ever-lovin SGT. FURY and his Howlers, contributing their block-bustin bit to the Battle of the Bulge — The Mighty AVENGERS, meeting and fighting the Original Avengers — the made of the Mighty and MILLE THE MODEL, bringing you a bevy of beddam, beauty, and batty belly-aughs — and for a totally unexpected, titanic treat, the majestic TALES OF AS-GARD, possibly the most beautiful presentation issue of all time. There! We did our part! The rest is up to you!

ITEM! Notice anything different this ish! There are more letters than ever on our letters pages — cause we've been omitting the usual answers. It's a real "first" for Marvel, and we decided to do it because we thought you yourselves might enjoy answering each other (as well as giving us more time to spend on the yarns themselves!) So, from now on, when a frantic one brings up an objection, criticism, or query, well wait till some other frenzied fants retaliate, and award our usual violutious No-Prizes for the best "get-the-poor-old-Builpen-off-the-hook answers. Besides, you'll get lots more letters per page this way. So, let us know how you tike our agonizin' new approach, okay!

ITEM! Let's see what's doing in the bludgeoning Bullpen these days! Rascally ROY THOMAS is knockin' em dead with his new Nahru threads and guru goatee! Groovy GARY FRIEDRICH will be sending us his scripts from Hollywood for the next few months! Jazzy JOHNNY ROMITA bought himself a new set of wheels, and now you can't even get him to walk across the street! Jolly JACK KIRBY won three Best Artist" awards from different fan groups in just one week! Dashin' DONNIE HECK made his first visit to the Bullpen in months, and didn't recognize SMILIN' STAN in his nutty new beard! Jaunty JIMMY STERANKO not only writes and draws his strips - but he colors 'em, too! Watch out. Artie and Sam - if he ever finds a lettering pen — !) Every time we wanns make Merry MARIE SEVERIN happy, we promise that her brother, Long-JOHN SEVERIN will soon be inking one of her ginchy yarns! (And, he will – soon as he gets the time!) We don't know how Darlin' DICK AYERS can do so many war stories without getting battle fatigue. He doesn't get a vacation - he takes a furlough! we're running out of room! More

THE MIGHTY MARVEL CHECKLIST Marvel-ous Mags On Sale Right Now!

THE SPECTACULAR SPIDER-MAN #2: Stop the presses! Here's the biggest news of the year! In answer to a zillion desperate demands, our sensational new 35-center is now printed in full, glorious color! And it stars the vile-villainy of the Green Goblin! Don't just sit there, citizen!

THE WORST FROM NOT BRAND ECHH #10: The fouled-up Fantastical Four, Spidey-Man vs. Gnat-Man, and all the other sickening sagas that won't stay dead, in one single, intolerable issue!

SILVER SURFER #2: Marvel's newest and most daringly dramatic superhero returns to thrill you again as he battles the startling occupants of a fearsome flying saucer.

STAN'S SOAPBOX

Remember last ish, when we told you we'd shy away from editorializing? Well, no sooner did we go to press than a flood of new letters arrived, concerning the great "Soapbox controversy," and the vast majority went like this:

Dear Stam: In your recent Soapbox column, you asked if Marveldom Asembled wanted you to editorialize more. I wole of the soar was a state of the soar

1701 Terrace Dr. West Lake Worth, Florida

So, that sinks it! From now on, whenever we have something to get off our collective chest, we'll assume we have a magniloquent mandate to sock it to ya, and let the chips fall where they may.

Excelsior!

Smiley.
Next ish: "What is a bigot?"

FANTASTIC FOUR #80: Who says this isn't the age, of Marvel surprises? Just when you thought we'd forgotten about him — Wyatt Wingfoot returns — and how!

FANTASTIC FOUR SPECIAL #6: It's almost too much! Our heroes are trapped in another world, while Sue finally gives birth

SPIDER-MAN SPECIAL #5: Here's where Spidey learns the truth about his long gone parents — in the most off-beat Special of the year!

AVENGERS #57: Hero — or killer? Human — or monster? Those are the questions the Avengers must answer about the sinister Vision . . . if he doesn't destroy them first!

AVENGERS SPECIAL #2: Our answer to an avalanche of requests! The new Avengers battle to the death with the original Avengers . . in a world they never made!

MARVEL SUPERHEROES #17: You requested it — and now you've got it! The sensational Black Knight, in a new kind of story — with a new kind of far-out foe! And oh, that artwork!

X-MEN #49: Our marvelous misfits are back together again . . . but can their combined might stand against an army of mutants led by the malevolent Mesmero?

DAREDEVIL #45: When we give a hero his lumps, we don't kid around! This time we've got poor DD in a trap with no escape! It'll really rock ya!

MIGHTY THOR #157: This is the one we've been leading up to! If Mangog draws the Odinsword, it means the end of the world! And — he's drawing it! Hang on, heroes!

CAPTAIN AMERICA #107: One of the strangest of all Cap's thrillers! Will our hero be destroyed by madness— or will Dr. Faustus get him first? Quien Sabe?

INCREDIBLE HULK #109: Zowee! Story by Stan Lee! Layouts by Frank Giacoia! Gueststarring a fighting-mad Ka-Zar. If Green Skin was great before, he's endsville now!

HULK SPECIAL #1: To celebrate his first sizzlin' special, who could possibly battle our jolly juggernaut to a standstill? How about the phantasmagoric — Inhumans?

IRON MAN #7: It's a battle to the finish with the malevolent Maggia, and the odds are on our golden Avenger's side, until . . . enter the Gladiator! 'Nuff said!
SHE-MARINER #7: Wouldja believe . . .

Destiny for President! At long last, Namor faces the one foe he hates most of all in one of our most startling climaxes!

CAPTAIN MARVEL #7: Mar-Vell thinks he's seen everything our ever-lovin' planet can throw at him — and then he meets the living, loathing entity — Quasimodo!

NICK FURY, AGENT OF SHIELD #6: Who are . . the Others? Without human compassion . . beyond good and evil . . . they stand ready to annihilate the earth!

DR. STRANGE #174: You've never heard of the nefarious Nekron before, but take it from us — after this you'll never forget him! The most mystic battle of all!

SGT. FURY #59: We call this one "D-Day

SGT. FURY #59: We call this one "D-Day for Durn Durn", as our mustachioed warhorse faces a life-and-death challenge... with the Howlers unable to help him!

CAPTAIN SAVAGE #7: If we have to tell you any more than that the rocking Raiders risk all to rescue a Marine ace named Ben Grimm — but, we kinda figure we don't! TALES OF ASGARD #1: Just to show that nobody can take mixed-up Marvel for granted, here's a giant-sized Thor-Asgard surprise Special, recreating the greatings and glory of the Thunder God's early days!

and glory of the Thunder God's early days:

Dear Stan and John,

Thank you. I appreciated issue #63 of SPIDER-MAN as I have appreciated no issue of SPIDER-MAN in a long time. My happiness in seeing the old Vulture brought back to his rightful place as THE flying man excelled even my happiness at the new problems you have given Peter Parker. The idea of ever doing away with such a character was foolish in the first place. My heart thrilled to see him flying around as in the old days, cunning, crafty, but now seeming even stronger than he used to be. I simply had to exclaim with joy when I saw him bouncing those guards around with such skill and strength that I wondered how Spidey could ever hope to beat him. Now, don't get me wrong, though. I'm not the kind of guy who likes to see villains win. It's just that I like to see the villain's prowess shown so that it heightens the enjoyment of the battle with the hero. And even though Spidey did almost nothing in this ish, I enjoyed it so much that I just had to write to commend you on a job well done. I'm not the type of guy who writes rave letters, but when I like something. I want you to know about it (nd vice-versa). The whole issue brought back memories of the Spidey of old, and I enjoyed it more than I've enjoyed a Spidey story in many a month. Let's have more stories like this. Spidey made very few (if any) wisecracks this whole issue, and though I enjoy good wisecracks at the proper times, I was pleased with this. Lately, every time Spidey opens his mouth, a wisecrack pops out, and the series is turning into one big joke. There seemed to be none of the drama, excitement, and even the empathy which a reader likes to feel when reading a story. There are those, I know, who will gripe at you for giving Spidey these new problems, but it makes it easier for a guy to identify with Peter when he does have these problems and makes the reader more drawn into the story. I thank you.

Cary Burkett, 1120 E. Pecan Angleton, Texas

Dear Stan,

I got started reading your mags about four years ago. During these past years as I've had the time I've read the mags of just about all the gang from Marvel. The one personality that I've always found time for though was Spidey. Not that I don't enjoy the rest of the crew, but Peter Parker is the type of guy that won't let me relax unless I know what he's got going of every minute. My only comment on the way you have his life all tangled in the problems of today is, that it seems the poor kid's mind is going to snap one of these days. Being realistic as you usually tree, Pete needs someone that he can share some of his problems with captain Stacey has my vote. He is the type of man that can understand Spidey's problems and give the kind of advice that would ease Pete's mind without making any decisions for him. Besides being a romanticist, it would give Pete an inside lane for Gwen. I think she's just the girl for Pete. She always had had something more than an outer beauty and her philosophy has always seemed a little deeper than sh's let show on the surface. Well, keep up the good work and I'm sure that somehow, regardless of what happens, Pete will manage to survive and Spidey will continue to swing from one issue to the next. By the way, what does one have to do to get a subscription to Spider-Man comics? I'll be going overseas to pick up where Nick and the gang left off in about a month and a half. I seriously enjoy these magazines and would appreciate hearing from you on what I have to do and how much it will cast. By the way, if Nick Fury gets the chance, why not let him visit with the First Air Commando Wing here on England AFB. We work a little differently than he did, but we share his goals. Thanks a million for any help you can give me with this request.

John Johnson, Sgt. ASAF, Box 139 England AFB La. 71301

Dear Stan and John,

Since last year when I first really discovered the name Marvel, I have found many different aspects of your magazines. Probably the most astonishing fact is that 66% of the National Merit Scholarship finalists in my school read Marvel comics. In addition to this, I discovered that the people who score high marks on their College Board exams usually are avid fans of the FF, Spidey, Daredevil, and Doctor Strange. The third verity which has come to the surface is that your magazines help to increase the rate with which you read. Because of the grouping of the words, one tends to read blocks of sentences instead of slowly reading one word at a time. Everyone here at Webb agrees that Spidey is the coalest hero you have. The SPIDER-MAN SPECTACULAR knocked this school out of gear for about a week. I loaned out mine and did not get it back until five days later. The only thing that everyone did not like about it was the lack of color. From talking to the other Marvellies in y school, I can say that all of them would gladly pay more than 35¢ for color. Spider-Man is always improving and so are all the rest of your comics. That is why Marvel has the best comics in the United States.

Jeff Jardan, Webb School Claremont, California

Dear Sirs

I read every Spider-Man comic you put out, and so far I can find only one fault — I never see any letters from the "First State", Delaware. Out of over a half million people I can't be the only Delawaren reading your comics. So Delawarens, let's hear from you. I work at the State Hospital in New Castle and I always take a Marvel comic to wark with me. I let my patients read them when I am through with them. My patients are nuts about them.

Dear Stan and John:

SPIDER-MAN #63 was excellent, as usual. One of the high points of the adventure was John Romita's aerial battle scenes. They reminded me somewhat of Romita's cover illustration for DAREDEVIL#16, the way you could look past the combatants and see the buildings rising up toward you. Your use of the Vulture as the main character gave you plenty of opportunity for these aerial views. And speaking of the Vulture, I've never seen any of Spidey's many foes steal the show the way the Vulture did in issue #63. He really came on strong! At last Stan has created a villain with a believable motive. The characterization was superb! I think it was most fitting that it was the Vulture, not Spidey, whose picture dominated the cover. The title — "Wings in the Night" also foreshadowed this amazing tale in which everything revolved around the Vulture, with Spider-Man relegated to a secondary role. I'm really looking forward to the next ish, in which Spider-Man and the Bird of Prey have it out! Another villain that could be developed into as strong a character as Vulchy is the Green Goblin. By now it should be obvious to all readers that the frequent memory flashes suffered by old man Osborn are going to lead up to the Goblin's revival in the near future. Well, I'm all for it. I'd like to see Spidey battle more such villains as the Vulture and the Green Goblin.

Rick Howe, 217 Burroughs Ave. Beaufort, S. C. 29902

Dear Stan,

SPIDEY #63 was a great story, and was made great by the fact that, for one of the few times in Marvel history, one bad guy whipped the tar out of his opponent. I am, of course, referring to the long awaited (and expected) meeting of the two Vultures. But, alas, this marvelously executed main plot was sorely in need of a good sub-plot. The sub-plot of "Spidey-fall-down-and-hurt-his-arm-so-he-can't-fight" is a little over-used. If he doesn't hurt his am, then he catches a cold and stays in bed until the end of the mag, where he makes a miraculous recovery and beats up the bad guy. But the point is, why did he fall down? "Hal" you may say. "The webbing is not water-proof! So it didn't stick to the wall he sought to stick it to!!!" They why, oh faithful leader, did said super-hero say, in SPIDEY #29, that he made it water-proof originally? So! Our witty Spider-Man can shop! webbing underwater (#29) but not in the rain! Stan old boy, only Marvel could make webbing like that. Now would you just explain why it shoots underwater, but not in the rain!?! Huh? Would you? It would greatly relieve me to know why wonderful Mr. Spider-Man must fight with a busted wing. Why don't you give the Vulture a broken wing! I can just see ish #64, when Spidey bumps his arm and thinks "The pain, it is almost unbearable! But I can't fail now, I just can't" 'Nuff said!

Melvin Payton, 1388 Poquoson Ave Poguoson, Virginia 23362

Dear Stan and John,

I just have to give you guys a pat on the back for SPIDEY #63. It was superb in every way. John's art and Stan's scripting seem to get better every ish. Unfortunately, the original Vulture being alive was no surprise to me. Why should it be? After all, you've brought all the dead baddles back to life! And, oh yes, one more thing before I go. In your continued stories (which is most of 'em), at the end of the story, in the preview box, you always have: "Next... whatever the title is." This gives the appearance that the story has ended, when it's really just beginning. You should have "continued next ish" at the end of all continued stories and have the "Next "bit at the end of all the series of continued stories. I hope

I have succeeded in running you guys batty. 'Nuff said?

Michael Church, Route #2, Box 28-A Butler, Tennessee 37640

Dear Stan and John,

Why, o, why must Spider-Man constantly face his foes with a broken arm or a cold or some ailment? I mean, hasn't the guy got enough problems? He's tackled the Vulture, the Lizard, and the Shocker with broken or sprained arms. He's fought Doc Ock and Kraven and the Vulture with illness. And these are only samples of what you've done to the poor guy. Give him a break (and I don't mean in the arm or leg or rib cage or anything like that). "Wings in the Night" was still a good story, though. The original Vulture is much better than the newer one for the main reason that he looks like a vulture. Can't wait 'til next issue as those air-borne battles between Spidey and the Vulture are always a special treat. The art was good. Still wish Romita could draw the entire mag and not just do layouts. At least have him pencil and ink the covers. Okay? By the way, not that I'm a trouble maker, but how come Gwen and Pete are buddy-buddy in the SPIDER-MAN SPECTACULAR? Now, you could say that that takes place before this yarn, but how come DD gets involved with the crooked Raleigh in his latest adventure? Or should I mind my own business?

Tony Isabella, 11203 Peony Avenue Cleveland, Ohio 44111

Dear Stan and John:

Spider-Manis a poor slob under abnormal stresses. He is constantly frustrated in his love life (he hasn't made a pass at Gwen in 62 issues that had a ghost of a chance of success). He represses desire for Mary Jane (inhumanly) and manages to do exactly the things that alienate friends and lose chicks. Every time. And he can talk about his hang-ups casually. It seems to me that he would be more prone to violence than he is, so as to reduce hostility and anxiety. Also, if Peter Parker is as brilliant as he seems, why doesn't he think of a way to make some money honestly which wouldn't take much time? With his special resources of mind and body, he should be able to supply his own needs and those of his schizophenogenic Aunt May with less frantic insecurity.

The Flowerpower League, 955-A Palm St.

Dear Stan and John,

I was trying to figure out why you let Pete have such an easy time of it this month (just a sprained shoulder, more silent treatment from Gwen, and the return of the original Vulture, who has died at least three times - Spidey usually suffers more than this just getting through the introduction), when suddenly, like a vulture out of the blue, it dawned on me — Spider-Man's birthday is this month! (May) Yes, it was me — Spiter-Man's girnady is this month (May) les, it was exactly six years ago this month that the first SPIDER-MAN story was unleashed on the world. The magazine was AMA-ZING FANTASY #15, and I was on hand to buy it, which shows you that I'm no newcomer to the ranks of Marvel. Through high school and college I followed the adventures of our swinging web-silinger (and slinging web-swinger), and now that I am nearing retirement age (21) it's comforting to know that that the still has know that not only is Spidey still around, but he still has more problems than I do, which I think should earn HIM a no-prize.

'We're looking for people who like to draw'

says Norman Rockwell

Today hundreds of men and women who never thought they could be artists are working at easels and drawing boards, making pictures and getting well paid for it. They all can thank a group of famous artists who have devoted much of their time and talent to helping others find success in art,

Some of the people the Famous Artists have helped

Carl Kock was an 18-year-old apprentice in a Chicago art studio when he enrolled, Today he prepares ads for such companies as General Motors and Firestone—has won five gold medals.

Howard Sanden of Minneapolis took the Course while still in high school. He is now a successful artist recently he and his wife traveled through Europe and the Middle East on important art assignments.

Paul Sullivan enrolled at 14. His Famous Artists training helped him work his way through college.

Kathleen Gironda of Indiana, Pennsylvania, was an 18-year-old salesgirl in a department store. She still works for a department store, but now it's as an advertising artist and fashion illustrator. With Famous Artists training James Ryan, formerly a clerk, has become an illustrator at Hughes Aircraft—and turns our a steady stream of well-paying free-lance artwork in his spare time.

Oregon housewife Helen Tryk lives 150 miles from the nearest big city, But she does fashion illustration, has her own studio, runs an art work shop, does portraits.

A plan to help others

It started over 18 years ago when a group of America's most successful artists—men like Albert Dorne, Norman Rockwell, Jon Whitcomb, Al Parker and Stevan Dohanos—met in New York City. They knew that all over America there were people who liked to draw who could be turned into good artists. Albert Dorne asked, 'Why can't we give these people the

Founding Faculty of the Famous Artists School

Norman Rockwell Jon Whitcomb Al Parker Stevan Dohanos George Giusti Peter Helck Fred Ludekens Ben Stahl Robert Fawcett Austin Briggs Harold Von Schmidt Albert Dorne training they need—including all the trade secrets and know-how we've learned over the years?"

He suggested a new kind of art school—a home study art school—that would give talented people the best professional art training, no matter where they live:

The famous artists agreed. Taking time from their busy careers, they created a remarkable series of art lessons covering every aspect of drawing and painting. They illustrated their lessons with over 5,000 "here'show" illustrations. The lessons start from scratch and cover every skill a top artist needs. Finally, they developed a wonderful way to-give each student personal correction and advice all through his training.

The famous artists with the School are not surprised at the success of their students. The opportunities open to successful artists today are enormous. The School continually gets calls from all over the country asking for practical well-trained students—not geniuses—who can step into full-time or part-time art jobs. And practical, thorough training is what the School offers.

Famous Artists Talent Test

To find others with art talent worth developing, the Famous Artists created a 12-page Talent Test. Thousands paid to take this test, but now the School offers and grades it free, Men and women who do well on the test—or offer other sufficient evidence of art talent—may enroll in the School. But there's no obligation, Simply mail the coupon below.
